

Cookeville, Tennessee – April 11, 2016 – Financial institution software provider, Oculus Software announced a new addition and major update to its flagship software, BNControl. BNControl now includes a Financial Reporting module as an additional tool for the financial institution’s executive management team to manage overall financial performance.

“With the addition of our Financial Reporting module, BNControl makes it easier to view financial statements, budgets, monitor key ratios, and create board reports.”
– Jonathan Loftis, Chief Technology Officer

As a company, we take great pride in creating data-driven solutions because we know that better information leads to better decisions. When you see how our already feature-rich solution is complimented by our Financial Reporting enhancements, you will see how easy it is for your financial institution to improve overall efficiency, employee job knowledge, customer service, and most importantly increased profitability.”
